

Wayfaring With Wagner

Endless Curiosity. Insatiable Wanderlust.

MEET JORDAN

Hello and Moin! My name is Jordan and I am the writer, dreamer, and photographer behind the Hamburg-based travel blog "Wayfaring With Wagner". Since moving to Europe in 2013, I've visited over 35 countries and have no plans of stopping!

In the past four years, I've lived in Heidelberg, Germany; Zagreb, Croatia; Sofia, Bulgaria, and Edinburgh, Scotland while completing two graduate degrees and two internships. I now live full-time in Hamburg, Germany while pursuing my love of travel, exploring new locations, and treasuring life's wonderful moments.

ABOUT WAYFARING WITH WAGNER

With my endless curiosity and an insatiable wanderlust, Wayfaring With Wagner evolved from my love of traveling and documenting life's adventures. My goal is to inspire those with a 9-5 job to pursue their own affordable luxury adventures through day and weekend trips in Europe, the USA, and beyond.

I've been lucky enough to have visited 37 European countries and 49 U.S. states. I focus on fairy-tale destinations, with an emphasis on the historical and political backgrounds of these towns - documented through photographs, anecdotes, and travel tips. I look forward to working with you!
